

- Read through the script below
- Choose whether you want Yasmine to consent or not
- Fill in the script to show what her choice is and how Tom reacts
- Remember:
 - consent isn't just about words - physical reactions count too. Use a stage direction to show how Yasmine physical reaction emphasises her choice
 - Tom should always respect her decision

Yasmine is playing a game on her tablet. Tom walks in.

TOM: Hey! I love that game, what level are you on?

YASMINE: Level 4 - the end jump is really tricky!

TOM: Oh I know how to do that! Can I show you?

YASMINE says:

Choose a physical reaction below and cross out the option that doesn't fit

[stage direction: Yasmine smiles and passes the tablet]

OR

[stage direction: Yasmine shakes her head and holds on to the tablet]

TOM says:

Choose a physical reaction below by crossing out the option that doesn't fit

[stage direction: Tom takes the tablet, completes the end jump and passes the tablet straight back with a smile]

[stage direction: Tom nods and puts his hands in his pockets]
